➔ FOCUSED ON INNOVATION

We take care of developments in specific disease areas

At Chiesi, bringing medical innovation closer to society lies at the core of our reason of existence. We believe that innovation is a tool to achieve a better and healthier society. Our strategy consists in investing in specific therapeutic domains where we can be of added value to the patient through our technical knowledge and expertise. For Chiesi, innovation means more than the development of new medication. Innovation for us is also the development of new concepts that permit a better and if possible an easier administering of medicines as to improve their effectiveness even further.

Our specific approach has had its effect. The innovative products we launch on the Belgian market grant us a position as an international expert in respiratory, neonatology, gastroenterology and rare diseases. Chiesi is also the first company in Europe offering a remedy based on gene therapy and on stem-cells. The latter is a true medical breakthrough in ophthalmology, one that recently has been awarded with a nomination for the prestigious Galenus Prize 2016.

➔ PROXIMITY

We stand close to doctors, patients and society

At Chiesi, we are not driven by tomorrow's stock exchange quote but by the medical needs of the next decade. We invest in long term, sustainable relationships with our stakeholders in the scientific, medical and patient community. We invest in medicines for rare diseases with small patient groups that have often been neglected in the past. A highly personalized, patient-oriented approach is our point of focus. We work, for instance, closely together with the patient community during the design and development of new types of inhalers in order to make them as user-friendly as possible for people's daily use. It is our responsibility to teach doctors and nurses to implement the innovations we offer to them and to their patients. In this way, we aim to contribute to sustainable and affordable health care for the current and next generation of patients and caregivers.

➔ THE CHIESI SPIRIT

We handle things differently

At Chiesi we combine the entrepreneurial spirit of an SME with the vocation of a multinational and the typical atmosphere of a family company. Our employees are all passionate and talented professionals. We excel not by what we say, but by what we do. Focus, modesty and reliability, that is Chiesi's DNA. This is the key to our success story, a story we continue every day. That is the Chiesi spirit.
